

Chad Taylor

April 2023

IT & Technical Services

Board Report

The computer basics class was a success. We covered four topics: computer basics, searching the internet, email, and social media. Each class was offered twice: 12:30 on Thursdays and 4pm on Fridays. Nine regular participants- mostly seniors. I have seen several of them since who are interested in additional sessions.

We have started allowing the public to 3D print. I am in the process of putting together a policy for 3D Printing. I am looking to set up 2 hr appointments and charge ~$.25/ meter of filament. Most prints will probably take longer than that but I want to make sure there are opportunities for people to print something rather than individuals taking up whole days of printing. The project the test case individual wanted to print had to be divided into multiple jobs. He has spent about $4 and about 5 hours so far. The remaining 3 pieces will take about 4-5 hrs each and cost about $5 each.